

We answer your key business questions...

How can I meet targeted product launch dates?

How can I meet development budget targets?

How can I increase the revenue?

How can I reduce the total service cost?

EZAR Engineering

India

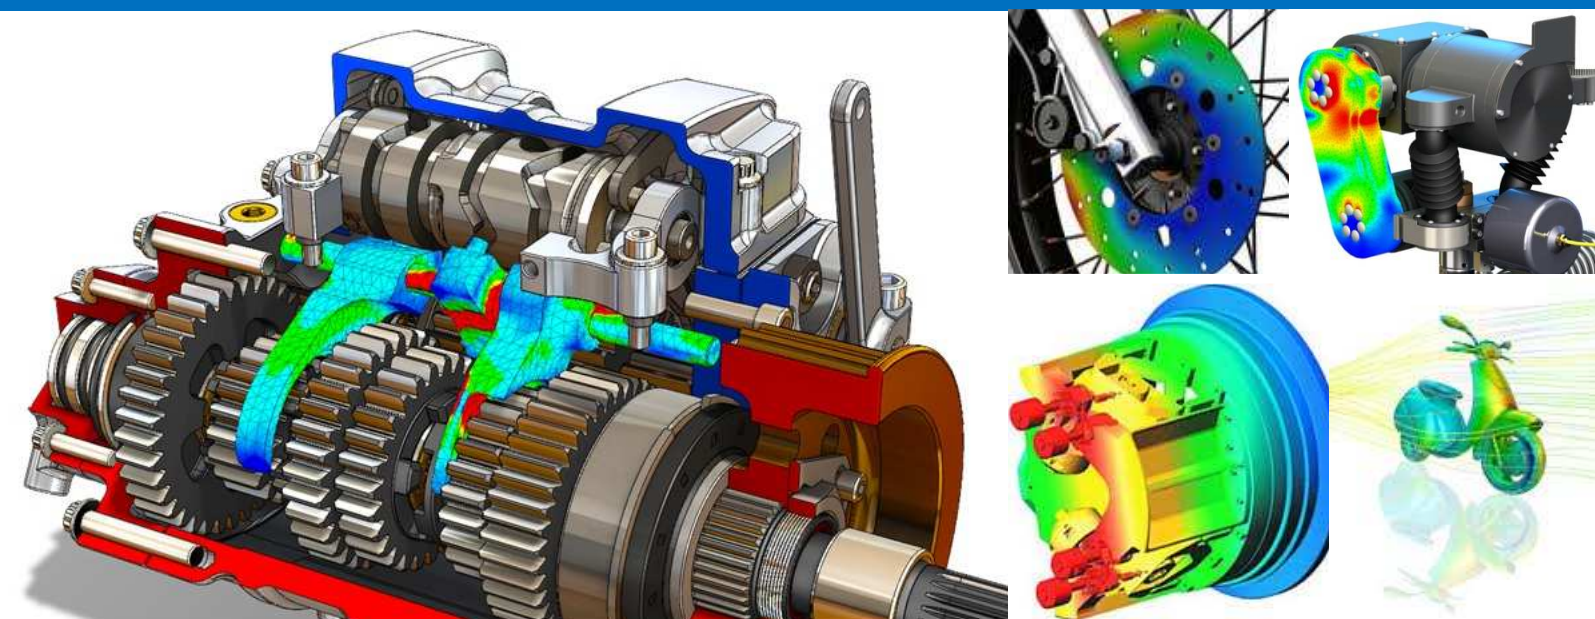

#74, General Block,
MIDC, Bhosari
Pune 411026
India
Telefax: +91-20-27111704

Find out more

For further information about EZAR Engineering and what we can do to help you transform your challenges into success, simply check out our website www.ezar.in

We deliver success

Qualified, Experienced, Experts

"Transforming your crucial challenges into success. That's what motivates us."

Our business is to deliver everything that makes you successful...

We believe our success lies in our customer's success. Therefore your definition of success is most important to us.

We bring key solutions, best services and world class support to make you achieve what you have defined as Success.

Customer defines success. We deliver it.

We help our customers design better products
Smarter-Cheaper-Faster

We have used what we sell. Therefore we sell it.

Solutions

We offer solutions that not only complement your existing product development process but also eliminate scope of errors and failures.

Our solutions help manufacturers to improve quality, reduce rework and increase revenue. We focus on addressing critical business issues with the most effective option. We introduce you to the most appropriate engineering software technology and offer a full range of services to gain the maximum benefit from your chosen solution. So – we do what it takes.

We ensure that our solutions are open, scalable and user-friendly to bring the balance of effectiveness and efficiency in your product development process.

Moreover, our advice and assistance is absolutely independent of the solutions we offer.

Services

We focus on challenging engineering projects that demand contribution from our core engineering competencies and IT solutions. Our legacy experience in engineering is capable enough to address any engineering challenge.

Surely we have skills and expertise in specific areas of engineering but we also have the ability to bring together all aspects of product development to give you an appropriate balance of elements. Our technical skills, common sense approach, global resources and understanding of the role played by IT in the product development process can help you making your product better and better.

We offer services that review and reform your product and product development process.

Our solutions, services and support are integrated. They are evolved through practice. They work because they are explored, applied and evaluated by best in class manufacturing companies while developing cost effective best quality products. They bring your definition of success to the reality.

Support

Our support system is the channel for our clients to access the abundant knowledge that resides with us. We promote a virtual environment where we are available at your service 24X7.

You can choose the option of using an available solution or can request for a tailored one. You can add a lot to your knowledge by being a part of periodic events organized by us either online or live. Our support system is the best way to realize the benefits of being with us.

Of course we are better at each component but putting them all together we become inimitable. That makes us better-makes us unique.

We can contribute to every stage of product development, from concept to manufacturing.